Reassign Designated Contingency Review

Once a submission has been assigned for contingency review, Core Staff may find it necessary to reassign contingency review of the submission to someone other than the originally designated reviewer. Depending on your situation, there are two options for reassigning a submission for contingency review. Core Staff also have the option to remove all currently assigned Reviewers from a submission.

- Option 1: Unassign the original contingency reviewer and assign a new contingency reviewer. The new contingency reviewer checklist does not include the original reviewer’s answers and comments.

- Option 2: Reassign the contingency review to a different reviewer and retain the original contingency reviewer’s answers and comments.

- Option 3: Remove all currently assigned Reviewers from a submission using the Unassign Designated Contingency Reviewer activity.
