

Tuesday Afternoon Play Reading

Tuesday Afternoon Play Reading meets once a month in the home of one of the members or in a Restaurant for a change of venue. We are accustomed to reading one-act plays. One member selects a play—and assigns the parts. Occasionally someone will wear some part of a costume, but none are required. The Director gives a brief summary of the playwright, and sets the scene for the play and also reads all inside directions during the reading.

Following the reading we usually have a brief discussion about the play and then dessert refreshments provided by the hostess or co-hostesses. Sometimes we go to a Restaurant with the option of a closed space for the play reading to follow the lunch.
