Library Resources at U-M for CEE Research

by Sara M. Henry
Engineering Librarian, University of Michigan

Thursday, January 14, 2010

12:00 – 13:00

Room 2355 GGBL

Summary: Many students are not aware of the civil engineering resources that are available at the University of Michigan and may spend a lot of time to find information that is readily available to them. This presentation is intended to help the students in efficiently using these resources for their research in Civil and Environmental Engineering and the geosciences.

 Everyone is invited***
