You are invited to participate in a special issue of Systems Biology in Reproductive Medicine

The journal, Systems Biology in Reproductive Medicine (SBiRM), is dedicating an upcoming issue to coverage of this year’s Michigan Alliance for Reproductive Science and Technology conference. This is an opportunity for each presenter to submit a review of his or her talk for publication. SBiRM publishes Research Articles, Communications, Applications Notes that include protocols, a Clinical Corner that includes case reports, Review Articles and Hypotheses and Letters to the Editor on human and animal reproduction.

Manuscripts should be submitted to SBiRM by July 10th. For instructions for authors please visit:
