RC PLAYERS BOARD MEETING MINUTES

October 27, 2009

Attendance: Minh dzuy, Mike, Catherine, John, Michelle, Kathryn, Foster, Rachel, Sean, Dan

Virginia Woolf:

- Starting full runs this weekend.
- Rejuvenation day!
- Teaser posters look good! Real posters, soon!
- It's on some weird website called facebook or something like that....
- Royalties: Not so good, calls aren't being returned, emails are unanswered, will ask Kate what to do. Backup plan: Accept donations!
- Babycakes is selling tickets.

Kamikaze

- Kickass!
- Sleep time = good
- Timeline
  - 8 – 9: meet, intros, props, etc
  - Actors:
    - 9 – 11: Games, improv
    - 11 – 12: Made posters, went flyering
    - 12 – 9: Sleep
  - Writers:
    - Write until 8.
  - Got scripts around 10:30,
  - Lunch at 2
  - Tech at 3
  - Curtain at 8.
- Perhaps too much sleep – should have had more time to memorize and run lines
- Props:
  - Everybody brought a prop – needed to incorporate all props into the scene
- For future Kamikazes:
  - Maybe: 2 one acts? Here, we can split up, lines can be more evenly distributed (instead of having a few shitty roles), entire show can be longer.
  - Can have funny & serious shows
  - Need true run through.
  - Should aim for doing it next semester... preferably not during a break.

Closer:
• No updates.

Keene Theater

• Scheduling for next year?
• Training:
  o Everybody needs to be "intensively" trained by Alvin
  o Eventually, Michelle can actually do training! Huzzah! Hopefully next year!

Aside:

• Usually students don't attempt Virginia Woolf, because it's intense and full of drinking and yelling and screaming. Wait, that's not really acting for us.
• Next Year: Foster the Musical!

Emails:

• Email list appears to be working now!
• Michelle and Babycakes aren't getting them, though. 😊
• Tracy! Hysterical!

Since next week is Virginia's Tech week, we decided that we don't need to have a meeting then – we'll send out a reminder email, just in case some people forgot. If anything comes up, we'll send out an email announcing the change of plans.
